

“Radical, outrageous, insightful...the future of food.”

-Kelly Anne Blount, USA TODAY Bestselling Author

LEWIS MUMFORD AND THE FOOD FIGHTERS: A Food Revolution in America

By Robert Turner, author of Carrots Don't Grow on Trees: Building Sustainable and Resilient Communities

Multinational food corporations have taken over the food supply. Lewis Mumford and a misfit band of rebel food fighters battle to take back control of their food and their lives in this compelling true story about food sovereignty and food security in the heart of Appalachia.

The recent Covid-19 pandemic and then Russian hackers on our oil and meat supply created food shortages and higher prices that revealed the weak links in our global, industrialized food system—a food supply chain that promotes itself as a source of plenty for all but really creates monopolies for wealthy corporations and food insecurity for the rest of us. In Lewis Mumford and the Food Fighters, Robert Turner defines a values-based and principle-centered approach to food that can restore our health and create a more sustainable and resilient food system for future generations.

“It is wise to do our homework and try to be prepared.”

-Mike McConnell, Former United States Director of National Intelligence

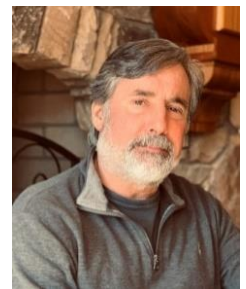

“With biting satire and wit, Turner speaks to the heart of the problems we face with industrial agriculture.”

-Cameron Farlow, Executive Director, Organic Growers School

“An eye-opening look at the future of the American farm and a revolutionary blueprint to overcome global food and climate challenges” -Kelly Anne Blount, USA TODAY Bestselling Author

“The power to discuss the modern food system in America with humor and heroes is one tall order. This book has done it. A captivating read!” -Lee Warren, Community Builder at Reclaiming Wisdom

Robert Turner is a writer for regional food and lifestyle magazines, an organic farmer, and food politics commentator. He's the author of Carrots Don't Grow on Trees: Building Sustainable and Resilient Communities (Discovery Books, 2019). After a successful business career in diverse industries and global supply chains, he now dedicates his time to helping people understand the global food web and the final conquest of the earth—our soils. He serves on the board of directors for the nationally recognized Organic Growers School and is an experienced speaker on regenerative agriculture.
